Swimming is all the rage in London now and the most notable feats are accomplished by young girls. The News of the 20th says:

"The announcement that had been made that some amateur swimmers would on Saturday afternoon swim a race from London Bridge caused a large number of spectators to assemble on the bridge. Their expectations were, however, doomed to disappointment, no race of the kind taking place. However, Miss Emily Parker, the young lady who last Saturday week swam from London Bridge to Blackwall, undertook to swim from London Bridge to North Woolwich Gardens, a distance of more than ten miles and a quarter. Taking the water at 5:03 on the first of a good ebb, the swimmer at once her journey with her favorite chest stroke. The tide was moderately good but the wind, which was rather high was dead against the swimmer, and the water very rough and lumpy, which rendered the circumstances rather more unfavorable than upon the previous occasion. Limehouse pier was reached at 5:43 and Millwall pier at 6. Greenwich, where thousands of people had congregated, was passed at 6:12, and here a man named Burke, who had accompanied little Emily from London Bridge gave up. The Scott Dock was cleared at 6:33 and the Blackwall Pier, or about seven miles from the start, was brought at 6:47. From this point to Woolwich the water was extremely rough, and the spectators watched the waves in the [illegible]

THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

It appears by the official returns received at the State House that the Constitutional Amendments submitted to the people of Maine, at the recent election, have all and severally been accepted. The majorities for each proposition are quite large, though the aggregate vote is small. But little interest seems to have been taken by the people in the proposed changes, and they simply neglected to vote. In case of those exercising their right of suffrage, it was easier to vote "yes" than "no"; as the ballots all prepared, and thrown without mutilation, would count in the affirmative; while to vote in the negative would bring into requisition the use of a knife or lead pencil. People in coming to the polls and discharging what they deem their weightier obligations, are inclined to let other matters slide. All these things conspired to make the vote light on the amendments.

The proposition that received the largest majority is that in relation to Bribery at Elections; the proposition that received the smallest majority is that in relation to the appointment of Judges of Municipal and Police Courts.

The following is a statement of the vote on each proposition.

	For.	Against.

The Democratic inflationists of Ohio want a non-exportable currency, and yet they declared in their platform in favor of free trade. There could be no worse restriction upon trade than the exclusive use of a currency worthless beyond the limits of the country.

The Boston Globe says: That report about the paralysis of George L. Fox's face is explained. While in Ohio he tried to read one of Governor Allen's speeches, and felt when he got through that he should never be able to grin again.

The question as to the right of women to vote under the provisions of the Fourteenth Amendment has been decided adversely to the claim by the United States Supreme Court. This claim was first urged in an argument before a Congressional Committee four or five years ago, which is said to have been the work of Mr Theodore Tilton. The case upon which the decision was rendered originated in Missouri. The Court were unanimously of the opinion that the Constitution does not confer the right of suffrage upon any one, that being an affair of the several States.

The prospects of peace being established by the Government of King Alfonzo are rendered decidedly gloomy by the announcement that the promised overthrow of the Carlists is deferred until 40,000 additional soldiers can be sent to the seat of war. Under these circumstances few troops can be spared for Cuba, and San Sebastian will probably have to pay the $100,000 which the Carlists coolly demand for leaving the city unmolested.

The efforts of the United States Fish Commission in taking salmon eggs this year on the Pacific Coast have met with unprecedented success. Over eight millions (8,000,000) eggs are now maturing at the breeding establishment on the McCloud river in Shasta county, California, under the care of Mr. Livingston Stone. About two million and a half (2,500,000) of these will be hatched and placed in the tributaries of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers. The balance will be shipped East, to be ultimately "placed" in various waters of the Atlantic slope.

The inflationists find a hard nut to crack in the facts developed by Washington despatches concerning the currency. While they cry out that the paper money in circulation is inadequate to the wants of trade, the national banks continue to surrender their currency; business indicating that less instead of more currency is needed. During the first quarter of the current fiscal year, that is, since July 1, there has been over eight millions of national bank circulation surrendered, in excess of the amount issued. Western banks have been among the most forward to take up their bonds and surrender the notes lying unemployed in their vaults, and Treasurer New, who has lately returned from the West, reports that this movement is likely to go on with greater, rather than less, rapidity.

The internal revenue receipts for September, 1875, were $9,751,036, or more by one and one-quarter millions than in September, 1874. The large increase in receipts from this source shows that the vigorous measures adopted by Secretary Bristow to administer the laws and suppress fraud has had a most beneficial effect. An honest collection of taxes and the increased rates imposed last winter, will, in the opinion of Commissioner Pratt, add twelve millions to the receipts from internal revenue this fiscal year.

When the Cincinnati Enquirer charges that the New York Democratic State Convention was made up of bankers, the Baltimore American thinks it must have meant faro bankers, and it adds: "Most people would naturally think so after reading the names of the delegates from New York and Brooklyn. Take, for instance, Nick Muller, Tom Shields, Johnny Reilly, Jimmy Healey, Tom O'Callagan, Pat Doyle, Johnny O'Rorke, Mike Coffey and Barney McGinniss.

The Sultan's decree granting reforms, the retreat of the insurgents from before Trebigne, and the resignation of the Servian ministry are at best incidents of the Turkish conflict, and are not calculated to determine the final result. Granted in time, the concessions made by Turkey might have quelled the revolt, but as the Lexington and Bunker Hill of the conflict have both been fought the prospects of immediate peace are greatly impaired. It is notable that Gen. Garibaldi, who is generally in accord with the radical element in Europe, cordially avows his sympathy with the insurgents.

A Paris correspondent of the London Daily News says that the French Prince Imperial is in bad health. His eyes are failing, and there are symptoms of the constitutional infirmity from which he suffered seven years ago breaking out again. He adds that "the organic feebleness of the Prince is the reason why M. Emile Ollivier and other members of Prince Napoleon's party went to Arenenberg. They calculate that if the party of the Appeal to the People get in their pretender, the cousin Jerome will, under the provision made by the late Emperor, be the eventual Cæsar."

At the recent meeting of the British Association a paper was read showing how the force of sea waves might be stored up on board ship for future use in the propulsion of the ship against head winds, thus doing away with the expense of fuel necessary to the production of steam. The idea is not a new one, nor is it altogether a chimerical one. It does not require great knowledge of mechanics to see that the oscillations of a ship in the waves of the sea might be made to wind up springs, the uncoiling of which could afterwards be utilized in operating propulsive machinery. Whether this could be done without an undue sacrifice of room is one of the questions which practical naval engineers would have to decide upon. The suggestion has already been followed by another one connected with the cheap transportation problem. It is estimated that business men who walk to their places of business waste an amount of force that would carry them back home at the close of business hours. Some genius suggests that the sidewalks might be so arranged as to utilize this waste force in the winding of springs, or in the compression of air, thus conserving it for use on street cars or underground railways. The suggestion may not be so absurd as it looks, and if anybody thinks "there's millions in it" he is welcome to what we have done in bringing it before him.

The kidnapping case, with which New Yorkers have been trying to rival Philadelphia is exploded. Josie Sullivan, who figured as the youthful hero of the sensation, was not stolen at all, but unluckily stayed long enough between two bales of hay in a storehouse on Washington street, to be suffocated. He has been missing since Sept. 16, and those clear-sighted gentry, the New York detectives, had worked up the case with such nicety that they were on the point of arresting the supposed abductors on Long Island. By all means let these gentlemen have exclusive charge of the Charlie Ross matter.

WHAT MECHANICS EARNED IN 1823. A few days ago the old pulpit in St. Andrew's Church, Philadelphia, was demolished in order that a more modern one might be set up. In the process of the work a letter was found hidden in the structure, where it had evidently been placed by the men who did the work over half a century ago. The letter is as follows:

"Saint Andrew's Church was commonced August, the year of our lord one thousand Eight and twenty-two and was consecrated The year of our lord one thousand eight and twenty-three. This church was Bilt for Mr. Bedell which was sead to Bee a very smart man. Indications multiply that the Spaniards in Cuba are tiring of a contest in which the wealthy individuals of the nation are losing far more than the insurrectionists. It is apparent to everybody that the Spanish Government has made no progress towards subduing the rebellion for the past two or three years, and the prospect for the future is equally gloomy. While the insurgents cannot get control of the island, yet they can make the struggle indefinite. Peace can only come through the realization of this fact by the Spanish residents, who may be able to overcome the Castilian pride which prompts a decaying government, torn by dissentions, to cling to its only colonial possession, although at such a fearful outlay of money and human life.

A proposition is pending in the Texas Constitutional Convention forbidding Judges, prosecuting Attorneys and juries, when under the influence of liquor from exercising their duties. It might have gone further and prohibited public officers getting drunk at all, but reforms must be gradual especially in Texas where the recent inundations have created a strong prejudice against water.

The following are some of the salaries paid to foreign missionaries: In India the American board pay their missionaries $1000; the Presbyterian, $1000 to 1080; the Reformed (Dutch), $1100; the Methodist, $1200. In China the American board pay $900 and in southern China, $800; the Presbyterian board, $1000, except in Canton, $900; the Methodist, $950; the Baptist, $900 and house; the Episcopal, $1000. In regard to single missionaries, the American and Presbyterian boards each pay two-thirds the salary of a married missionary, the Methodists pay in China, $500, and in India, $1000; the Baptist, $800 and no house; the Episcopal $600, the Reformed (Dutch), $600. For an unmarried female missionary the American board pay one-half of the salary of a married man; the Presbyterian board, from $280 to $600; the Methodist to China, $475, and India, $600; the Baptist, $400 to $500; the Episcopal, $450; the Reformed (Dutch), $600; the Reformed Presbyterian, $400.

At Cincinnati on Friday a saloon keeper placed a lighted candle inside of an empty whiskey barrel for some purpose and left it there for a short time. Soon after a customer entering the saloon and noticed a blue flame coming from the bung-hole and placed his hand over the orifice, when the barrel exploded, playing skittles with those present and badly demolishing the room and its contents.

It has been supposed that the barbarous custom of hazing freshmen in our colleges had been abandoned, but we learn that it has recently broken out afresh at Harvard University, and many of the freshmen of this year have been treated in a most cruel and wicked manner. If what we hear is true, the most vigorous measures should be taken to punish the guilty parties and stop the practice.—Boston Traveller.

INDIA AND THE MANUFACTURE OF COTTON. Lord Northbrook, Viceroy of India, in the absence of his Council, imposed an import duty upon the finer grades of raw cotton, ostensibly for revenue and partly for protective purposes. The London correspondent of the Liverpool Mercury gives to that paper a synopsis of a letter in regard to the matter from a person whose official position gives great weight to his opinion. He says:

"This tariff really inflicts a most damaging blow upon the Indian cotton manufacture, and is by the Indians themselves believed to have been prompted more by regard for Manchester than for Bombay. The fact is, the finer sorts of cotton will not grow in India. The attempt to raise it has been frequently made, and has always failed. Therefore if India is to compete with Lancashire in her cotton manufactures she must do as Lancashire does—import. But by imposing an import duty, Lord Northbrook has virtually prohibited this, and the Bombay manufacturers who have been putting up machinery to work the finer staples now find themselves suddenly in a most embarrassing position. My correspondent—who belongs in no way to commercial, but to high governmental circles—laments this unfortunate act of the Viceroy's as a most grievous wrong to India, akin to that which we inflicted upon Ireland last century, when we forbade her to export cotton goods, in order that she might not compete with Lancashire and Yorkshire."

The following advertisement recently appeared in the London Times: "A married lady of position wishes to find a young lady as companion and friend who would accompany her into society. Age about 28. She must be thoroughly competent to dress hair a la mode, and to undertake the care of chignons; and to be a good needlewoman. No other duties whatever. A lady of affectionate disposition would meet with much kindness and a happy home. Salary £20 a year, with £4 for beer or wine."

The murder of Miss Josie Langmaid, at Pembroke, N. H., is as shocking and horrible a crime as has startled New England society within the year. It was the deed of a monster from whom humanity had totally departed, and into whom the essence of raging diabolism had entered. It has demonstrated again that the condition of society upon which we are accustomed to implicitly rely frequently, but disguises the certain way to death. A fully grown young woman, on a New England highway, in broad day light, is set upon and murdered in a manner more loathsomely brutal than would be expected among South Sea Island savages, and the murderer has plenty of time to get out of the way before the base deed is discovered. No similar crime of recent date has deemed to so reek with revolting features. It did not merely desolate a home and an entire neighborhood, and society in general, with apprehension and terror, but it even shamed the brutes. The public mind forgets that such things can be possible until they actually take place.

Monsignore Simeoni, who was elevated to the Cardinalate last month, became a favorite of fortune late in life. He is seventy years old and of very humble birth, his family having been for several generations dependendents of the princely house of Colonna. The new Cardinal was for a long time a tutor in this family, but his accomplishments as a scholar gave him occupation at the Vatican in drawing up briefs and in writing Latin letters. In spite of Jesuit opposition he was made prefect of the seminary in the Piazza Apollinare, and seven years later Secretary to the Congregation of the Propaganda Fide. None of these positions, however, conferred any great distinction upon him. When the last Spanish revolution occurred, Simeoni was, at the instance of Cardinal Franchi, appointed papal nuncio to the court of King Alfonso, and at the same time made an Archbishop in partibus. He had nearly reached the age of three-score and ten years without having been tried in a responsible position. In a few months he had won such fame that he is now the best known of the newly created Princes of the church.

The Paris correspondent of the London Standard writes as follows: "Among our latest arrivals in Paris are two persons who deserve to be mentioned as something quite out of the line of ordinary visitors to the French capital. They are both centenarians, and, what is rarer, they are man and wife. Their names are Monsieur and Madame Ballue. The man is said to be 110 years of age, and the woman 105 years. They live in the South, and they have come to Paris by a cheap excursion train. Monsieur Ballue is an soldier of the First Empire, and while visiting the ruins of the Tuileries delighted his wife by pointing out to her the spot where he mounted guard under the Consulate of Bonaparte. Both these courageous centenarians enjoy excellent health. Their eyesight is good, their memory almost unfailing and their legs as strong as can be expected under such a heavy weight of time."

It should be mentioned that the rumor that the Orleans Princes would accept the Republic in France was untrue. The contradiction was not made for more than a week after La France started the story, and then only in reply to an insulting article in the Union, the Ultramontanist organ of the Legitimists. However, as it is not true, so much the worse for the Princes. They must be blind indeed no to see that there is no chance for the Monarchy, either Bourbon or Orleanist. By persisting in their present course they are really employing all their influence in behalf of the Empire, which they detest more than they detest the Republic. The Republic exists without them, it is true; but they are losing a splendid opportunity.

The subscriber has made it a specialty to manufacture Ladies' Fine Boots and Shoes for over FORTY YEARS in Boston, and for THIRTY of that time retailed them from his own counter. For the past TWELVE years, a very large part of them have been retailed by two of the most popular shoe dealers on Washington street, HENRY H. TUTTLE & Co. and T. E. MOSELEY & Co., and these two firms alone have had over SIX HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS' worth from the subscriber's factory for the best and most popular trade. The subscriber now proposes to have his firm's name stamped upon all goods of his manufacture and advertise, to let the public know where they may be found in Boston. The Stamp will be,

Various Accounts of the Matter.

A FIGHT BETWEEN THE FACTIONS.

Reported Encounter with Armed Negroes.

MEMPHIS, Oct. 6. The following despatch was received this morning:

FRIAR'S POINT, Miss., Oct. 5. via Helena, 3 A. M., Oct. 6. The sheriff of Coahoma county caused our town to be invaded this morning by an armed mob of negroes. We drove them back and we are fully organized for defence with Senator Alcorn and Gen. Chalmers in command. The sheriff has fled the country. Send us aid immediately.

(Signed) H P REID, G R. ALCORN

No Bloodshed Probable—The Trouble Considered Personal Between Alcorn and Brown.

The impression prevails here that there will be no bloodshed at Friar's Point, and notwithstanding numerous telegrams for men and arms, no steps have been taken to forward either. The fuss is considered a personal grievance between Alcorn and Brown growing out of Ames' antagonism to Alcorn The latest advices state that Alcorn has 70 cavalry and 40 infantry with which he had driven off Brown and 200 armed negroes, who retreated three miles from town where they made a stand No fighting had yet occurred and nobody had left or will go from Helena.

Another Account of that "Skirmish."

Another Avalanche special from Helena received at 9 P M., says the negroes numbering about 1000 were collected near the town, and the whites requested Sheriff Brown to disperse them but they refused. Gen. Chalmers then ordered them to disperse which they did, but collected again when he charged on them and drove them off by firing over their heads. They again collected behind a bayou when he flanked them and fired again, this time wounding some of them He kept driving them until he reached Clarksdale when they all disappeared They stopped at their homes as they were being driven back. It was understood that the negroes were again collecting at Jonestown (Alcorn's place and Chalmers was going out there to disperse them. Chalmers has some 200 or 300 men and the negroes fly before him whenever he makes a charge. One white man has been wounded. This trouble will cost the people white and black a great deal as no cotton is being gathered and every day counts. Major Alcorn says hired cotton pickers are leaving and the loss of cotton would ruin the people generally.

Eight Negroes and One White Man Killed.

A despatch to the Appeal from Friar's Point Miss at 11 A. M. to-day reports that in a skirmish between whites and blacks near that place, last evening, eight negroes and one white man were wounded. Everybody is under arms and further appeals are made for help.

Sheriff Brown Thinks the Trouble can be Settled Peaceably.

Another special to the Avalanche from Helena says Brown, the colored Sheriff, arrived there to-night and says he became detached from his friends early in the trouble and went on foot to Austin to obtain assistance of Sheriff Manning of Tunica county a white man, to go to Friar's Point and peaceably settle matters. He thinks that the difficulty can be settled without more trouble He knows nothing in particular in regard to the fighting

NEW YORK CITY.

More Scenes in Fulton's Church.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 The meeting in the Hanson Place Baptist church last night was prolonged till a late hour. Mr. Fulton insisted on presiding and would allow no one but Deacons Wearing and Bell to speak. The former said the Deacons and others desired to speak as they had been maligned by Fulton and in a prayer a week ago Fulton had consigned these Deacons to Hell. Great confusion characterized the meeting and the rulings of Fulton as chairman were openly denounced After an exceedingly noisy time a rising vote was taken instead of a ballot as is customary and resulted in 153 in favor of his resignation to 186 against Of this vote not 20 of the 186 are pew holders and over 140 were young children and girls Two Deacons resigned and the meeting adjourned till next Tuesday night when further action will be taken.

The Red Cloud Commission.

Four of the Red Cloud Investigating Committee are now here and do not expect to get through with the work preliminary to making their final report this week.

Attempt to Destroy a Ferry Pier.

There was quite an excitement at Stapleton Staten Island, last evening, caused by an attempt to tear down the pier of the opposition ferry landing. The pier was attacked by two scows, a steam pile driver and a large gang of workmen, but the bells were rung and some 2000 people turned out and threatened death to those engaged in the attempted demolition. The Staten Island police, with the crews of the yacht Mohawk and other yachts and several citizens remained on the pier all night to protect the landing and the club house of the New York yacht club which is on that pier. It is said the attack was made by order of the Harbor Commissioners on the ground that the pier encroached on the water line of the harbor.

Another Attack.

Another attack was made on the building and pier of the opposition ferry company at the Staten Island slip this forenoon, but the citizens drove the assailants away by the use of hose and plenty of water. A number of the rioters were arrested. Finally an injunction was issued by Judge Laureus restraining the Commissioners' pilots from demolishing the pier and served. The tug boats and derricks withdrew and the opposition boat is running.

The Tweed Case.

The Supreme Court, General Term, rendered a decision this forenoon, Judges Davis and Brady giving opinions confirming Judge Barrett's order in Chambers dismissing the motion to vacate the order of arrest on the $6,000,000 suit against Wm. M. Tweed or reduce the $3,000,000 bail. Another decision was given through Judge Davis reversing Judge Donohue's order from which the people appealed, requiring a bill of particulars as to the fraudulent bills and vouchers complained of by the people.

Butler and Phillips on "Soft Money."

Both Wendell Phillips and Ben Butler have letters on soft money in the morning papers. They both refer to the greed of capital and the onerousness of the National bank system as militating against the prosperity of the workingmen.

Meeting of the Trustees of the Peabody Educational Fund.

The annual meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Peabody Educational Fund was begun to-day at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. Hon. R. C. Winthrop occupied the chair and G. Peabody Russell acted as Secretary. The session was strictly private. A committee, composed of William M. Evarts and Alexander Stuart, was appointed to report suitable resolutions on the death of ex-Gov. Graham, of North Carolina. Rev. Dr. Sears, the general agent then read his report, which will be acted on by the Board to-morrow, until which time it will be withheld from publication. Adjourned until to-morrow, when Secretary Fish is expected.

CONNECTICUT.

The Vote on the Constitutional Amendments.

HARTFORD, Oct. 6. The vote in this State on Monday on the Constitutional amendment changing the time of the State election from spring to fall and making the Governor's term of office two years was 38,676 yeas against 3,501 nays, with eight towns to hear from. The vote on the amendment giving the Legislature power to restore forfeited rights to an elector was 20,[illegible] yeas to 10,[illegible] nays.

A Brilliant Wedding.

The most brilliant and important social event of the season in this city, and one of general interest throughout the country, was the marriage this evening of Mr. [illegible] Dodge, son of W. E. Dodge of New York, and Miss [illegible] [illegible] elegant home of Postmaster General Jewell on Farmington avenue. About two thousand invitations were issued, and the mansion was thronged from 7 to 10 o'clock. There was a rich display of presents.

THE EASTERN RAILROAD.

The Report Made to the Stockholders.

BOSTON, Oct 6. The Directors of the Eastern Railroad have at length submitted to the stockholders the report which has for some time anxiously been looked for, and it will to-morrow appear in the daily papers of the city. In the absence of some authoritative statement from the Directors, various exaggerated rumors have served to make the stock a foot ball on the market and forced it down as low as 21. The report shows the total indebtedness to be $14,650,373.67. Of this $5,691,465 are represented in bonds of the company; 10 year notes, including $2,000,000 sinking fund, $5,676,500; more notes maturing in eight months, $1,677,909; notes maturing in three years, $288,000; notes of other roads endorsed by the Eastern, $250,000 The report estimates that this total debt can be reduced to $11,230,720 77 by disposing of the property not required for railroad purposes.

A Labor Reform Convention.

WORCESTER, Oct. 6. About 30 delegates are holding a Labor Reform Convention in this city. It was called to order by E. M. Chamberlain of Boston. A Committee reported the following permanent officers. President, E. M. Chamberlain, Vice-President, J. B. Bates of Abington, and John Bowdlin of Roxbury Secretary, John O'Connor of New Bedford Committees on Finance and resolutions were appointed. A resolution by Wm. G. H. Smart of Boston that it was not expedient to make nominations of State officers was laid on the table James Hagrieber, an operative from Fall River, denounced the capitalists and said the Providence Journal and Bulletin were liars, and stated that there was to be a convention of laboring men at Fall River at an early date, and that Benj. Butler and Wendell Phillips were to be invited. Adjourned to 1.30 P. M

At the afternoon session of the labor Reform Convention the President made a speech against the Democratic State ticket as obnoxious. Resolutions were reported from the Committee in favor of the concentration of efforts on the reduction of the hours of labor, denouncing the Fall River manufacturers They advise the working men to keep away from all the present political parties, favor the substitution of 3 65 bonds for 5-20s and the making of greenbacks legal tender for duties and all debts, denounce the national bank system as one of the greatest swindles on a patient people

Prohibitionists in Convention.

BOSTON, Oct 6 At 10.30 this forenoon a meeting of so-called Prohibition party was held at Tremont Temple. The hall was well filled, a number of ladies being present. Rev. D. C Eddy of Boston presided and delivered a short address Various committees were appointed and an address on the liquor question was made by Rev Dr. A. A. Miner who severely criticized the Boston press on their temperance record. The Committee on Resolutions reported three, the most important of which was in effect as follows:

Resolved, That the safety of the Republican party and cause of Prohibition depends upon making the party a unit for the right which can best be secured by defeating Alexander H. Rice;

This excited much debate, one delegate insisting that both Gaston and Rice should be included in the excommunication The chairman cut off the debate by recognizing a motion to appoint a committee of 13 to nominate a prohibition candidate for Governor, it was carried and the chair at once read the list of committees and on motion the convention at 1 P. M. adjourned till 2 o'clock.

The Convention reassembled at 2 P. M. The Committee appointed to report a candidate for Governor came in and submitted the name of John J. Baker of Beverly The report was accepted and the nomination made unanimous. The committee was not instructed to make any other nominations and was discharged.

After the nomination of a candidate for Governor was made a State Central Committee of seventeen gentlemen was appointed, with Hon. R. C. Pitman, of New Bedford, Chairman. Addresses were made by Rev G. H. Vibbert and Rev. James B. Dunn Rev. Dr. Miner then read an address, defending the prohibition movement, and urging that the defeat of Mr. Rice, if secured by it, will not militate against the Republican party, whose status will be determined by the vote cast for the balance of the ticket.

At the conclusion of the reading of the address Wendell Phillips stepped on the platform and was greeted with prolonged applause, his address occupied about thirty minutes. He reiterated his well known views upon a Republican form of government and contended that in two years both the Republican and Democratic parties would be broken up, the exigencies which caused their formation having passed away. It was of no national moment that a Republican candidate for Governor be defeated The triumph of principles was every thing in this transaction of parties It was of the utmost importance that temperance men should teach politicians how much weight they are entitled to. The most trustworthy element of the Republican party clustered around the prohibition movement. Never before had they such an opportunity to make their influence felt. They should stand up and be counted and if they have 25,000 votes their success and that of their principles will be assured in the near future.

The audience was wrought to a high state of enthusiasm and at the conclusion adjourned with three rousing cheers for the nominee. The attendance was much larger than in the forenoon.

LOWELL, Mass., Oct. 6. The police of this city believe they have captured the murderer of Miss Langmaid. During last night a tramp applied at the station-house on Market street for lodging, who said his name was John Smith, and that he had walked from Suncook, N. H., in quest of work His face bore several scratches and the front of his shirt was saturated with blood. He said he cut his face while shaving, but retracted that story this morning and also changed his name to John Maher. He could offer no explanation for his bloody apparel He is a burly desperate-looking character, and the circumstances are considered very suspicious. He is held in custody for further developments.

Searching for the Missing Parts of the Murdered Girl's Body.

CONCORD, Oct 6 After the funeral of Josie Langmaid, this forenoon, a search of the woods for the missing parts of the body took place, in which about one hundred men participated. At half-past 4 o'clock a piece of false hair worn by her, a back comb, broken and jammed, a piece of her belt buckle and some hair-pins were found, about a rod from where the stake was found with which it is supposed she was struck. Appearances about the locality bore evidences that a struggle had taken place at the time. The search was discontinued at night and nothing more had been discovered.

Drew Still in Custody

Drew, who was arrested yesterday forenoon, is still in custody, but it is said no more evidence has been found to fix the crime on him The heel of the shoe said to have belonged to his wife, which he wore at the time of his arrest, was compared with the pattern taken of the heel imprint on the face of the murdered girl, and was found to fit it exactly. It is supposed as a matter of course that the clothes worn by the murderer at the time of the crime must have been covered with blood, but made by the officers failed to reveal any blood stains It is said that the clothes worn by Drew at the time of his arrest were not the same he wore on the day of the murder. This fact does not seem to be fully established.

Another Man Suspected.

Another man living in Pembroke is regarded with some suspicion by the authorities on account of some peculiar conduct and remarks previous to the finding of the body, and unless a satisfactory account is given of himself on the morning of the murder, an arrest will probably be made. A portemonnaie belonging to the girl is missing, and it is supposed it was taken at the time of the murder The coroner's inquest will be resumed at Suncook to-morrow forenoon

The St. John's Temperance Society will be present this evening, and there will be quartette and solo singing by gentlemen and ladies of considerable musical talent.

In a Broad street saloon yesterday morning, Charles Sumner, one of the proprietors, and Frank Murphy, who had called in for a drink, diverted themselves for a few moments by throwing tumblers, pitchers and other handy articles at each other Murphy wanted to play a game of "seven up" for the drinks, and attempted to get the cards, but that wasn't agreeable to Sumner, who pushed his customer from behind the bar while he was attempting to reach the cards. Murphy reached for the pitcher, but pushed it on to the floor and broke it, when the bartender grabbed one of the pieces and struck the other man cutting a deep gash in his face.

Field, of East Winn, is teaching the Fall school in this village and Miss Julia E. Elliott, of Springfield, a graduate of the Normal School at Farmington, is teaching [illegible].

A NEW SWINDLING DODGE. We copy the following from the Boston Transcript, which will be of interest to many of our [illegible] are out with a new dodge which is likely to catch a good many poor fools if they don't look out. It is called the "grand general average sale." The swindlers represent that they have arranged with importers, jobbers, etc., to dispose annually of $4,000,000 worth of their surplus or left-over stocks of goods, taking them at greatly reduced prices. These goods they put up in boxes marked $5, $10, $15, $20, $25 and $50, promising that each box shall contain goods worth at retail twice the amount marked on them, and send you any price box you desire on the receipt of the $5, 10, etc." It is hardly necessary to say that if any one receives even a box of sawdust they are doing remarkably well.

The Vote of Ward VII.

The Aldermen held a meeting Tuesday evening to complete the examination of the returns of votes from the several wards given on election day. Alderman Tobin in the chair.

An order was introduced by Alderman White and amended by Alderman Egery, as follows

Ordered, That the Clerk be, and hereby is directed, in making up and transmitting the returns of votes given in the city on the 13th day of September last, for Governor, Senators, Representatives to the Legislature, Representative to Congress, and for County officers, to omit entirely the votes given in Ward 7, for the reason that a fair copy of the list of persons voted for, with the number of votes for such person against his name, attested by the Warden and Ward Clerk of said Ward, and sealed up in open town meeting, has not been delivered to the Clerk. And that the Clerk send forward a statement of the votes in Ward 7; which order passed unanimously

Sabbath-School Convention.

The Sabbath School Association of Dixmont, Plymouth, Jackson, Newburg and Unity held its regular quarterly session with the Free Baptist church and School, at Simpson's Corner, Dixmont, on Tuesday, Oct. 5. The day was wet and disagreeable throughout, which prevented many from attending, except in the immediate vicinity. Rev. Smith Baker, of Lowell, Mass., was present, conducting the services principally, and by his pleasant wit and humor as well as his thorough practical knowledge of Sabbath-School work rendered the occasion very interesting and profitable to those present.

The principal topics discussed were: "Best methods of conducting Sabbath-Schools, "What constitutes a good teacher," and "How to prepare the lesson." Addresses were delivered to the children. The question-box and teachers' meeting, conducted by the Rev. Smith Baker, were also very pleasant features of the programme A collation was served in the house by the good people of the place

The time selected for the holding of the convention, proved very unfavorable. Had it been pleasant the house would have been crowded to its utmost capacity Too much praise cannot be awarded Rev Smith Baker for his gratuitous services, coming expressly as he did for the purpose The next session will be held in January.

Quarterly Meeting at Carmel.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT

The exercises in connection with the Quarterly Meeting, recently held in this village, proved to be highly interesting and profitable

The very able discourses of the Presiding Elder were much appreciated, and highly enjoyed. Not the least interesting feature of the meeting was that of the gathering on Monday evening in the interests of the Sabbath school

Several young ladies acquitted themselves admirably in reading several choice selections. Two little girls—Lunie Benjamin and Lillie Harvey—interested the audience by the skillful rendering of their solos The school choir, under the direction of Mr. Austin Harvey, furnished some excellent singing, Mrs A. Harvey presiding at the melodeon.

A question-drawer, opened in the course of the evening, afforded both amusement and instruction. I must not forget to mention the very interesting addresses on Sabbath school matters, delivered on the occasion by Rev Amml Prince, of Bangor, and Rev J. A. S. Rich, of Brewer The former address the scholars on the theme "Ruling the Spirit," and the latter on "The importance of studying the Bible." The meeting was quite a success

Origin Fuller, Lagrange, Elisha A. Clifford, Lincoln; excused.

The forenoon was passed in calling the docket by the Clerk, and the afternoon in disposing of cases on motion.

Yesterday morning the Court was engaged in making assignments of cases for trial, and a number of cases were finally disposed of on motion. On motion of Hon. F. A. Wilson, Mr. Victor Brett was admitted to practice as an attorney in the Judicial Courts of the State. Mr. Brett, after graduating at Tuft's College, was employed in his father's office, the Clerk of Courts, and then graduated at the Albany Law School, since which time he has been studying in the office of Messrs. Wilson & Woodard

A very sharp swindle was practiced on Michael J. Ash, a Baltimore merchant Friday. A man appeared in his store in the guise of [illegible], and delivered what purported to be a despatch from a customer in Washington, ordering goods. He signed his name in the delivery book opposite the figures supposed to represent the number of the despatch. It turned out, however, that he had really signed his name to a check [illegible], which was concealed under the page on which he wrote his name, and so arranged that the signature appeared in the usual place for signing a check. The rascal went to the bank, got the money and made his escape.

It is believed that a few weeks of this treatment will make them so loathe the intoxicant that they will forever eschew it This plan may work well, but we would remind these reformers that there are doubtless instances where men have found it to their taste to get drunk after a diet of mince pies flavored with brandy, and widow Cliquot's preparations have frequently been swallowed without disgust just after wine sauce

Are the only medicines that will cure Pulmonary Consumption.

Frequently medicines that will stop a cough will occasion the death of the patient they lock up the liver, stop the circulation of the blood, hemorrhage follows, and in fact, they clog the action of the very organs that caused the cough

Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia are the causes of two-thirds of the cases of Consumption Many persons complain of a dull pain in the side, constipation coated tongue, pain in the shoulder-blade, feelings of drowsiness and restlessness the food lying heavily on the stomach accompanied with acidity and belching up of wind

These symptoms usually originate from a disordered condition of the stomach or a torpid liver.

Persons so affected, if they take one or two heavy colds, and if the cough in these cases be suddenly checked will find the stomach and liver clogged, remaining torpid and inactive, and almost before they are aware the lungs are a mass of sores and ulcerated the result of which is death

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup is an expectorant which does not contain opium or anything calculated to check a cough suddenly.

INFLAMMATION OF THE LUNGS
CLIFTON, N. B. February 17th 1873.

Sir! In behalf of my family I wish to acknowledge a debt of gratitude I owe Mr. James I Fellows My daughter had been ill with inflammation of the lungs, has raised large quantities of blood and purulent matter, attended with every symptom of consumption. After obtaining the attendance of two eminent physicians, who afforded her no relief, she was persuaded to try Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites Upon taking two bottles we had every reason to believe she would be cured Her physician was surprised to find her improvement so rapid, and advised her to continue its use, which she did until her complete recovery. Two years have elapsed, during which time she has neither taken nor required any medicine, enjoying good health, and urges all who are afflicted with any lung or chest trouble to use the Hypo. without fail

My wife, also having been in bad health for some time, and having had typhoid fever in December last, which left her much prostrated, was advised by the physicians to use this remedy to build her up Before taking half a bottle she found herself much benefited, and still continues to use it

I believe, under kind Providence Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites has been the means of restoring both my wife and daughter and I hope the afflicted will avail themselves of its use for although it is widely used, I think its value is not appreciated. Yours truly,

THE FAIRY SHELL.

One day, while wandering on the shore
That once was ruled by [illegible]
I found within a [illegible] rock
A strangely twisted, curious shell,
With spiral wheels of pearly white,
And hollows tinged with roseate light.

This shell possessed a wondrous power,
For, placed against the listener's ear,
He heard, though gentle, faint and low,
The tones of those he held most dear,
Though parted far by land or wave,
The faithful shell an echo gave.

Oh, happy gift to man," said I,
"More precious than the painter's art,
How oft shalt thou, in distant climes,
Console the ever-faithful heart,
Bring back the cherished voice again,
And take from absence half its pain."

"Vain are thy thoughts," a nymph replied
"For those who own it will lament
That never through its echoes faint,
Can tidings from the loved be sent,
The distant sound is only caught,
But never word or message brought

"Twill only waken yearnings vain
'Twill only pierce the heart anew,
And bring to mind with tenfold pain
The anguish of the last adieu
When all is lost beyond recall,
'Tis better far a veil should fall."

She ceased I turned, and threw the shell
Beneath the tossing, foaming tide,
Too well can memory waken grief,
That man should seek for aught beside
Love needs it not, for love can last
When all the things of time are past.

ART AND ARTISTS.

Inness, it is said, is engaged in his retirement at North Conway in writing a work on art

Mr John Sartain, the Philadelphia engraver has been appointed chief of the fine arts department of the centennial exhibition.

Miss Ellen Day Hale, daughter of Rev Edward Everett Hale though scarcely out of her teens has developed extraordinary talent in painting

Mr Brainard the new art auctioneer, has made arrangements for several sales of pictures by Boston artists which will take place during the months of October and November

Darius Cobb is engaged on a portrait of his brother the well known Sylvanus Cobb Jr which is doubtless "to be continued" till it reaches an excellent art stage. Joking aside the subject is a good one, and the artist's pencil will be guided by a sympathetic feeling that is noticeable more and more as the work progresses

The thirty-first reception of the Brooklyn Art Association is announced to take place on Monday evening, Nov 29 and will be followed by the usual public exhibition in the galleries of the society, in the Academy of Music and art building.

A collection of fine water colors, exhibited at Goupil's in New York contains a series of nine original etchings by the late Spanish artist M Fortuny They were executed in Rome in 1863-4 and are described as fine specimens of the art

The School of Design of Cincinnati appears to be in a very flourishing condition, judging from the fact that at the seventh annual exhibition there were 339 crayon drawings many of them of the size of life Among the works exhibited are some good examples of wood carving and also of decorative painting on porcelain The art committee have decided to award a gold and a silver medal to the wood-carving department, and Mr Henry Probasco has offered a prize for the same kind of work.

The portrait bust of Goethe which is to be erected in Central Park at some future day is now on exhibition at Tiffany's, New York. The head is of colossal size, and is a reproduction of the original bust executed by Prof Fischer, the famous Berlin sculptor in 1849. The present head is owned by the Goethe Club of New York. No time has yet been appointed for the unveiling of the work in the park, and this will not be done until a proper pedestal is made A design for the pedestal is now under the consideration of the officers of the club

Grace Greenwood speaks of Antwerp and its art collections as follows Antwerp is wonderfully rich in fine old churches and each one has its treasures of painting stained glass carving or sculpture its organ or carillons, which make the worship of the poor old saints the Man of Sorrows, and the peasant woman of Nazareth a luxury for the eye and ear. The beautiful Church of St Jaques has the tomb of Rubens St Andrews has a marvellous carved pulpit and a fair portrait of Mary, queen of Scots ornamenting a monument of the Curll sisters, her beloved maids of honor To one of them it is said she gave her last earthly embrace

A colossal statue of Alexander von Humboldt, modelled by Professor Drake, has been recently exhibited in that artist's studio in Berlin, previously to its being sent to America where it is to be cast in bronze and set up in the great International Exhibition at Philadelphia next year The statue represents Humboldt at about sixty years of age dressed in the costume of the time but with a cloak falling in large folds thrown across his shoulders. He is standing holding in one hand a roll of paper against his breast, and resting the other lightly on a large globe The figure is more than three metres in height

GENTLEMEN'S SUITS

While glancing over the various popular fashionable journals on gentlemen's mode attire we glean the following information in regard to autumn suits It appears that the goddess has introduced a number of changes in the manufacture of materials, and also in the manipulation There is rather a generous expression to the "cuts" which is exactly suited for fall and winter wear Heavy underclothing is generally adopted during these seasons and hence all other garments should be made as roomy as possible There is nothing perhaps more annoying in dress matters than a "pinched" suit and particularly for office and business wear Great provision has been effected in this respect, so much so that several pleasing remarks have been gotten off at the expense of the new modes, for example on dit, "pants are cut so large that modesty will prevent a man from going up a ladder" Of course there is no such extravagant waste of material, and yet there is no very great economy practiced in the cut of fashionable pants. The leading styles are sort of straight up and down, absolutely large all the way, a very light spring over the instep But with all this growth of pants, there is nothing slouchy and too big about their appearance The artistic designer and skillful workman has happily avoided all these evil expressions and the present modes in pants are, indeed, modes of beauty and elegance.

For promenade there is the ever neat and comfortable cut-away single-breasted coat for fall wear. This garment is made somewhat longer than those worn last season The roll is short, and coat buttons high. The English "patch" pockets are all the rage This style is an old one but the modern tailor has not confined himself altogether to the first modes, hence the present "patch" pockets are rather new than otherwise. The popular Prince Albert coat will be worn. The alternations are slight, and yet so distinct they will be perceived at once. The new mode has the skirt much longer than the former style, shorter roll, and made of worsted dark coatings, diagonal, and, basket cloth. Fancy striped cashmeres for promenade pants will be quite popular. The favorite checks of last season are this fall sort of standard patterns. The designs of some patterns are interesting, they actually present a puzzling expression, the lines are so broken, and yet the blocks are distinctly formed. The mixed checks and double bars are beautiful patterns, and make up exceedingly neat. The fancy Knickerbocker mixtures for general wear form pretty and serviceable suits.

The colors of mode materials are very dark, they are of the same somber shades as the leading dyes found in the autumn materials for ladies suits. The "top patterns" are formed of light-colored threads, broken and whole, and some are so mixed as to produce the effect of shade work.

AN OLD NEW-ENGLANDER'S WILL.

[From the San Francisco Bulletin, Sept [illegible].]

A well-known artist of San Francisco has on exhibition in his studio the copy of a curious will, which [illegible] and hung up in the New-England [illegible]. It was made by his grandfather, Silas Tappan, in 1872, and admitted to probate, although not without contest in Salem, Mass., in 1787. Not drawn after the most approved model, the old gentleman's hard common sense was manifest in it, and the law found no serious defect. After the usual, "By the grace of God I, Silas Tappen, being of sound mind, &c," he comes directly to the point: "I bequeath to Hetty Ellen Pringle, daughter of Catherine Pringle—as I have had opportunity since my marriage with her to find out—my second wife, now living my buckskin purse, together with $1 in good and lawful money, the same to be given to her by my hereinafter-to-be-appointed Executor as soon as the breath shall have left my body—the aforesaid lawful dollar as an equivalent for the peace and quiet brought into my house by her, and my purse is an object long admired by her and accorded to her tastes. To her sisters and aforementioned mother, and various other relatives, found by me after my aforesaid marriage to have passed to me as part and parcel of my second wife. I do give and grant to them forever that right, which I have never been disposed to deny them, of sojourning elsewhere than in my house and upon my providing; and I do most devoutly pray, for the sake of any misguided man deserving of sympathy, that before proposing marriage to the aforesaid sisters, mothers, or my wife, then widow, he shall have become as demented as they. To my oldest son, John, who seems from his cradle to have endeavored to nullify any parental and filial feeling which was natural between us by the means of an incessant and remorseless application to the fiddle and date I do bequeath the little which I have left of love for music, together with my fiddle long since worn out by him, and do devise to him subject to his step-mother's right of dower, for which right the law, and not his father, is responsible, all of my right, title, and interest in my homestead at Salem, where at this herein date I do reside, together with everything real and personal and by way of easements to me belonging to him and his heirs forever. To my other children, Samuel and Mary, I do bequest all of my personal property and assets, with the exceptions herein noted, after the payment of my debts, of which I have none, save the debt of nature, all in the amount, moneys deposited in the bank at Salem, and other chattels, of $8 000 of lawful money; and to my children I do devise and bequeath these things only upon one condition, viz., that in respect to my memory they or any of them shall not, in any manner contribute to the support of Catherine Pringle or her daughters In which event, I do direct my executor hereinafter mentioned to make over to the Massachusetts Insane Asylum every dollar and all property herein given to them."

The testator finished by directing his Executor to give, if there was no objection offered by his heirs, certain things of small value to his friends, and then named as his Executor the musical son It was signed, sealed, witnessed and acknowledged in the most elaborate form, and although contested by the widow on the ground that at the time this will was made the testator was insane, the jury decided that there was nothing unnatural in his ill-feeling toward his mother-in-law and family, and that he was competent to make a will.

A REMARKABLY FAST IRON STEAM YACHT—The iron steam yacht Continental, which recently arrived at Philadelphia from Bordentown, N. J., is a very remarkable boat in more points than one. She has performed a feat never before accomplished by a boat of her size. for she has run when loaded with a day's fuel and a party of gentlemen on board, the extraordinary speed for a small yacht of 16 miles in 57½ minutes, being the rate of two runs as follows:

First run, eight miles against the tide, 31 minutes—15 48 miles per hour.

Second run, 8 miles with the tide, 26½ minutes—17 94 miles per hour.

Average speed, 16.71 miles per hour.

This record is a sustained running and not a furious effort for the distance of one mile with no power to breathe at the finish, like the English yachts of this class. The Continental can run a mile in three minutes, being at the rate of twenty miles per hour, but this is not her boast; her novelty and renown are derived from the fact that she can run, when loaded, at the sustained high rate of speed of between sixteen and seventeen miles per hour.

She is handsomely fitted with a hardwood cabin, and has points of excellence and elegance about her pleasing to the yachting man. One great novelty in her build is that her propeller is at the extreme of her length, being abaft the rudder and is lowered so that half its diameter revolves below the vessel's keel, and is consequently always in solid water. The screw is protected by a deep skeleton shoe projecting below it so that in case of getting in shoal water no harm can happen to the propeller The engines are double 6x8 inverted cylinders carried on steel columns All the working parts are of steel finished brightly and presenting a very handsome appearance. Her builders seem to have obtained the maximum strength with the minimum weight in hull and engines, and her owners (members of the Continental Steam Yacht Club of Philadelphia) can congratulate themselves on possessing the fastest yacht of her size in the United States —Philadelphia Press 21st.

FAITH. An aged colored woman, when urged to leave her residence on Fifth street to escape the coming flood replied "I gess don't done nothing ob de kind, de good book says dat de world don't get 'stroyed by water again, an' I'se gwine to stay here suah." In less than two hours the house went to pieces, and Aunty come paddling to shore on a part of the roof. The old woman's faith was evidently somewhat shaken, but all she said as she made her way to the higher ground was "Bgess clar to goodness if dis ere ain't markable" —Galveston News.

The full-length portrait of Abraham Lincoln that was ordered by the New York Legislature two years ago from Francis B Carpenter, was completed on Saturday. The portrait represents Mr. Lincoln standing on the portico of the White House His right foot is forward and his right hand rests on a large copy of the Bible, which is on a velvet-covered table. In his left hand is the emancipation proclamation, and from it depends the great seal of the United States.

Malaria-Breeding Floods.

The recent tremendous freshets which have flooded some of the most fertile low lands of the United States, have not only caused wide spread ruin and disaster, but have, as might have been expected, been followed by an unprecedented outcrop of fever and ague, bilious remittents, and other diseases of a malarial type The sun's rays, acting upon the saturated vegetation and isolated pools left by the retiring waters, have exhaled a far reaching miasma, which is pregnant with disease. The most reliable safeguard against it is found to be Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the present demand for which, more particularly in the West and Southwest, where the floods have been most severe, exceeds any which has existed in the past, popular as the great national remedy and preventive of malaria has always been. Never has it been put to such a crucial test, or its claims more conspicuously vindicated.

To the Honorable Judge of Probate for the County of Penobscot:

The undersigned, administrator of the estate of Samuel Libbey, late of Dexter, in said county, deceased, respectfully represents that the goods and chattels, rights and credits of said deceased are not sufficient to pay his just debts and charges of administration

Wherefore your petitioner prays your Honor to grant him a license to sell, at public or private sale, and convey all of the real estate of the deceased, (including the reversion of the widow's dower therein,) to satisfy said debts, expenses of sale and charges of administration.

To the Honorable Judge of Probate for the County of Penobscot:

The undersigned, administratrix of the estate of Wilbert H Stanhope, late of Bradford, in said county, deceased, respectfully represents that the goods and chattels, rights and credits of said deceased are not sufficient to pay his just debts and charges of administration by the sum of about one hundred and fifty dollars

Wherefore your petitioner prays your Honor to grant her a license to sell, at public or private sale, and convey about fifty acres of land in said Bradford, being all of the real estate of the deceased, inasmuch as by a partial sale of any entire portion, the residue would be greatly depreciated in value, (including the reversion of the widow's dower therein,) to satisfy said debts, expenses of sale, and charges of administration.
